

maine public
RADIO · TELEVISION · ONLINE

Scott Marchildon

Chief Development Officer
Maine Public
Lewiston, Maine

Scott Marchildon oversees both the membership and leadership giving departments at Maine Public as their Chief Development Officer raising more than $10m a year. He has spent a quarter century immersed in non-profit fundraising.

Marchildon came to Maine Public in 2014 with 20 years of experience at two of Maine's leading centers of higher education, Bates College and the University of New England, where he served in various roles, most recently as Assistant Vice President of Institutional Advancement from 2007 through 2014. Scott has participated in and solicited funds for 8 distinctive comprehensive and capital campaigns that yielded substantial growth in annual, endowment and capital support as a professional staff or volunteer that raised more than $500m. At Maine Public, he completed a $35m campaign and is currently orchestrating a new comprehensive campaign that will be one of the largest and most visible non-higher education campaigns in the state.

Scott has served as a member of the board of advisors of North Yarmouth Academy and with the Council for Advancement and Support of Education as a faculty and mentor for CASE District I Conferences. Scott earned his M.Ed from University of New England and his B.A. from Bates College.